PRINCIPLE CONSTRUCTION CORP. COMPLETES
TENANT EXPANSION FOR SUNCRAFT IN NAPERVILLE

(Bannockburn, Illinois –) Mark E. Augustyn and James A. Brucato, owners of Principle Construction Corp., are pleased to announce that the design/build firm has completed construction of an 88,000 square foot warehouse addition for Suncraft Technologies, Inc. located at 1301 Frontenac in Naperville, IL.

A ribbon cutting ceremony and luncheon was held on Wednesday, September 17th at the newly finished space in celebration of its completion. Pictured are the attendees of the ceremony which includes Ron Desanto, Owner/President of Suncraft Technologies, Inc., and family; employees of Suncraft as well as Principle Construction employees'; Mark Frane, Senior Superintendent; Mark Augustyn, Chief Operating Officer; Phil Gonzalez, Project Manager and Mike Long, Director of Project Management.

Suncraft Technologies is a premier printer with sophisticated in-line web presses, bindery services, in-line personalization, die cutting, perforating, and inserting/mailling services. From the state-of-the-art prepress department to completion, Suncraft customers are satisfied long-time clients. In 2007, the firm printed and delivered over one billion pieces.

“This project had many challenging obstacles to overcome during the design / permit approval process” said Phil Gonzalez, project manager for Principle Construction “but in the end Principle Construction was able to push the project thru due to teamwork and Owner’s open mindness, positive attitude and determination.”

The expansion consisted of 88,000 square feet of warehouse space with a 20’ clear ceiling height, designed to accommodate 4 interior loading docks, 65 new parking stalls, storage mezzanine, Baler room, Break room, Worker room & Shipping Office.

Phil Gonzalez acted as Project Manager for Principle Construction Corp. on the project and Harris Architects provided architectural services.
